Court To Check Validity Of '65 Voting Rights Act

Decision May Be In Time For Spring Primary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Supreme Court, in a move to forestall drawn-out court battles and possibly allow thousands of southern Negroes to vote in 1966 primary elections, will give an early ruling on the constitutionality of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

The court announced Friday night it would assume "original jurisdiction" in the case and hear oral arguments next Jan. 17 in a request by South Carolina that it settle once and for all the validity of the law's guarantees of voting rights.

Procedure Speeded

The high court's decision, reached over the dissenting votes of three of its nine justices, means that a decision could be handed down in time for Negroes to participate in next spring's primary elections.

It also means that the usual legal procedure under which the Supreme Court cannot act until a case has made its way through lower courts will be bypassed. The authority for such a bypass is provided by the constitution in disputes between the states and the federal government.

The court's order was met with approval from the Justice Department and southern officials. South Carolina State Attorney General Daniel R. McLeod said the action was "exactly what we wanted."

Three Justices Opposed

South Carolina filed its case with the Supreme Court last Sept. 29 and the Justice Department followed Oct. 21 with a request that parallel cases be filed against Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Friday night's order by the Court rejected the government proposal for suits against the three other states. But at the same time it allowed any state to ask permission to join South Carolina in its suit.

Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart voted against the order.

Turncoat Won't Discuss His Life Inside Red China

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unwilling to discuss his life in Red China with newsmen, Morris R. Wills, a recently-repatriated GI turncoat, arrived in New York Friday with his Chinese wife and 15-month-old daughter.

The 32-year-old former Korean prisoner of war said he had no definite plans for securing work but might write a book or a series of magazine articles. He told reporters here and in San Francisco that they would have to wait to hear his own story of life in Red China.

Wills said he expected to return "eventually" to his home in Fort Ann, N.Y., but refused to reveal when.

U. S. Forces Kill 1000 Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. forces may have killed more than 1,000 Communists in last month's fighting around the American special forces camp at Plei Me, a U.S. Air Force spokesman said today.

He said the heavy Viet Cong losses in the battle may be one reason for the four-day lull in Communist activity in Viet Nam which continued through today.

American and Vietnamese units sweeping some areas of the country reported little contact with Communist forces since early in the week.

"The Viet Cong have taken such a licking recently that they appear to be looking around now for a good target — one they can hit and not miss on," the spokesman said.

Reports Friday said at least one regiment of North Vietnamese regular troops believed to have participated in the Plei Me battle was so badly mauled by the U.S. forces that survivors are actively seeking to surrender.

An American intelligence officer who questioned about 40 captured Communists said they were sick, undernourished and demoralized. He said they told him they had waved white flags at passing American helicopters in the hope of surrendering.

In other developments, a government spokesman said Vietnamese Maj. Nguyen Van

Dan has been arrested and jailed in the killing of his wife, Ho, the "Tiger Lady of the Mekong Delta."

Informed sources said she died while struggling with her husband for possession of a gun after they had an argument over another woman.

Negro Student Giggles Greet John Birch Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert D. Welch Friday night carried the John Birch Society's criticisms of the civil rights movement to Negro Howard University. All he got for his efforts were giggles.

The 66-year-old founder of the Birch Society spoke to a large group of students on "how insanity is taking over our nation." At first his comments on such topics as ill-used foreign aid drew polite applause.

"We are not a hate group," said Welch. "Why, we don't even hate Earl Warren — just the evil he stands for."

But when he started talking about Negroes being tools of the Communists, the heckling began.

"Don't get me wrong," he said. "Some of our best members are Negroes." There was uncontrolled giggling.

Mapping Satellite Takes Ride Today

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The countdown was proceeding today on a high-powered Delta rocket set to shoot a "winking star" mapping satellite into space to tell man more about the Earth.

The 385-pound geodetic explorer, shaped like a child's top, was scheduled for an afternoon (1 p.m. EST) launch into an orbit ranging from 690 to 922 miles high.

The shot is the opener of a Space Agency effort to help surveyors more accurately map the globe and to help scientists learn more about the earth's shape, its make-up and the peculiarities of its gravity.

To enable it to serve as a precise space reference point,

Geost-1 was equipped with five separate tracking systems — flashing lights, 322 highly polished mirrors to bounce laser light beams back to earth and three separate radio positioning devices.

The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey hopes to use Geost-1 and its successors to more accurately locate earth's continents and islands. For example, officials say the distance between a point on North America and Europe is known only to an accuracy of about 500 feet. By using Geost-1, that error was expected to be reduced to 40 feet.

Sixteen Arrested In Gambling Raid At Benton Harbor

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — Sixteen persons were arrested in a gambling raid here early today.

Police said the persons, 14 men and two women, were all to be charged with being inmates of a disorderly house.

Detective Harry Lenardson said the raid, prompted by a tip, resulted in the confiscation of several decks of cards, a dice horn, a dice table, and $39.

He said several knives and a loaded gun were found on the floor of the house, where they apparently had been dropped when the raid began.

Boy, 10, Perishes In Sand Tunnel

HILLSDALE (UPI) — James Swift, 10, suffocated Friday when a homemade sand tunnel collapsed and buried him.

A companion, David VanArsdale, 11, was knocked down by the sand embankment by the cave-in. He rushed home for help but James was pronounced dead when officers recovered his body.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Swift of Hillsdale.

First Project Is 50-Year-Old Coal Mine Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department announced Friday its first project under the Appalachian Regional Development Act — a $1 million effort to control a 50-year-old underground coal mine fire in Pennsylvania.

The anthracite fire, southeast of Wilkes-Barre, began in the old Red Ash Mine during a miners' Christmas holiday in 1915 and has continued ever since.

The Interior Department said the fire apparently had burst through underground fire seals and pillars of unmined coal that previously isolated it.

If not controlled soon, the department said, it could spread through the coal remaining in mines underlying the 800-home community of Georgetown in Wilkes-Barre Township.

The Bureau of Mines said the fire threatens the pillars of unmined coal that support the double-track main right-of-way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the new Anthracite Expressway, Interstate 81, south and west of the borough of Laurel Run.

The bureau added that if left uncontrolled, the fire would spread through inactive mines north to Wilkes-Barre and as far westward as Nanticoke.

Already, residents of Laurel Run have evacuated several houses because of seeping toxic combustible gases.

The project calls for the Bureau of Mines to advertise for competitive bids for exploratory drilling to accurately define the fire area. An underground pumping system will then be installed to flush incombustible material such as sand and gravel through specially drilled holes to create a permanent fire barrier.

The Rev. Marlin Ballard of Baltimore, one of the sponsors, described the service for Norman R. Morrison of Baltimore as "purely devotional and non-political." He said Quakers and friends of the dead man were expected to attend.

A service is also planned at the Stony Run Friends Meeting House in Baltimore, where Morrison was executive secretary.

Detroit Police Find Marijuana

DETROIT (UPI) — A policeman chasing a speeder stumbled onto a narcotics case here.

Patrolman Michael Lane pursued a speeder into suburban Dearborn Heights Thursday and gave him a ticket. As he was returning to Detroit, he saw a car parked at the side of the road in Edward Hines Park on the far westside. He stopped to give aid and found Paul Land, 51, Detroit, sorting marijuana leaf and seeds.

Land tried to hide the marijuana under the seat of his car. Lane turned him over to the Wayne County Sheriff Department's Racket Squad.

Early Friday, Land took sheriff's deputies on a tour of the area where he was arrested. He showed them a patch of marijuana growing in Hines Park and another patch growing in Rouge Park.

Police estimated the marijuana in the two patches was worth thousands of dollars. Marijuana cigarettes sell for from 50 cents to $1 each.

Quakers To Hold Vigil In Honor Of Human Torch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Friends of the Quaker who turned himself into a human torch in front of the pentagon building last Tuesday to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam plan to hold a three-hour memorial vigil today at the spot where he died.

The Rev. Marlin Ballard of Baltimore, one of the sponsors, described the service for Norman R. Morrison of Baltimore as "purely devotional and non-political." He said Quakers and friends of the dead man were expected to attend.

A service is also planned at the Stony Run Friends Meeting House in Baltimore, where Morrison was executive secretary.

India-Pakistan Peace Tangled In Old Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — India and Pakistan expressed willingness today to comply with a Security Council demand for "unconditional" withdrawal of their armed forces in Kashmir. But they remained frozen in their positions on a political settlement of the dispute.

After the Security Council passed its fifth resolution on the Kashmir conflict Friday, Indian Foreign Minister Sardar Swaran Singh and Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto again held fast to differences that have prevented peace in the subcontinent for the past 18 years.

The resolution also sparked a big power split, with the United States and Soviet Union on opposite sides.

The resolution calling for the "prompt and unconditional" withdrawal of all armed personnel to positions they held Aug. 5 — when the current fighting broke out — was passed 9-0, with Russia and Jordan abstaining.

The Soviet move brought out into the open again the U.S.-Soviet squabble over the financing of peacekeeping operations and the role of Secretary General U Thant in attempting to settle international disputes.

Although the resolution made no mention of Thant's peace efforts — the Soviets had contended he had overstepped his mandate — it asked the secretary general to report progress within three weeks on a time-table for troop withdrawal.

The resolution also demanded that India and Pakistan work out with Thant's representative, Brazilian Maj. Gen. Syseno Sarmiento, an agreed plan under which troops would be pulled back.

Aluminum Price To Rise Monday

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — An aluminum price hike that could raise the cost of a variety of goods from kitchen pots to railroad tank cars will go into effect on Monday.

The nation's three leading producers of aluminum announced the increases Friday and a trail of speculation was raised that it triggered a White House announcement later that the government will sell aluminum stockpiles.

The Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA), the top producer, said it would raise prices by one-half cent a pound on ingot and by one cent a pound on most fabricated aluminum products.

Within hours, Reynolds Metals Co. and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. announced plans to raise the price of fabricated products. Ingot price increases were announced by both firms last week following the lead of Olin Mathieson Corp.

Alcoa said the price increases were "imperative" to expand facilities, offset increased labor costs, sponsor research and provide an adequate profit.

Time Wasted On Districting By Democrats

LANSING (UPI) — Four angry Republican apportionment commissioners accused their Democratic counterparts and Secretary of State James M. Hare Friday of deliberately stalling a new redistricting effort for the state.

In a half-hour meeting in Hare's office, the Republicans said Democrats purposely boycotted the meeting to chop 10 days off the 60-day schedule set up by the State Supreme Court Tuesday for the commission to draw up new legislative districts for 1966.

The leader of the Republican forces, former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, said Hare's decision to postpone the first meeting of the full commission until next Friday was a "unilateral decision" that will "waste precious time."

'Seas' In Port

MARSEILLE, France (UPI) — The liner Seven Seas, the "floating university" of Chapman College, Orange, Calif., arrived Friday on a three day visit with 238 students and professors. The vessel circles the world twice a year giving students firsthand knowledge of life in other countries.

One of them was a package from London which lost its entire address except for the zip code, the department said. The code showed the package was en route to Lantana, Fla., where officials were able to locate its intended receiver.

The department reported Friday that clerks in Savannah, Ga., had been assisted by the code numbers in forwarding parcels in 672 mail-sacks damaged by a railway car fire to their destinations.

One of them was a package from London which lost its entire address except for the zip code, the department said. The code showed the package was en route to Lantana, Fla., where officials were able to locate its intended receiver.

1,500 Permits Go Begging In Peninsula Hunt

Upper Peninsula deer hunters asked for 76,800 special permits to hunt antlerless deer in the U. P. in the hunt starting Saturday, Nov. 13 and 8,100 of them were denied permits.

While this was happening, 1,500 permits went begging because no one asked for them.

The situation results from Conservation Department practice of issuing permits only for designated areas in limited numbers.

There were 70,200 permits available in the 13 U. P. hunt

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Robert McLaughlin of the Time and Life editorial staff visited Escanaba Friday for conferences on a book on the history of the Midwest. McLaughlin is on loan to Time & Life Books and in charge of text for the history. He will make his home in Kenilworth, Ill., for the next year in preparing the book, which will be one of a series planned by Time & Life on areas of the nation.

The Midwest area of interest is the old Northwest Territory. The book will examine the Midwest character, the qualities that make its people different from those in other areas, the influences that have created its current culture and economy, and its role in national influence.

The Midwest sent three of the greatest generals to the Union command in the Civil War, influenced American letters in the contributions of writers like Dreiser, Sandburg, Hemingway, Anderson, Farrell, Ade, Riley, Field, Tarkington and others.

What of today? That's McLaughlin's quest.

areas and 68,700 permits were mailed out to applicants who held hunting licenses.

The three areas in which the number of permits offered was not exhausted and the numbers of permits offered in each follow:

Area No. 5, Iron County, 8,978 permits.

Area No. 9, eastern Alger County, 1,500 permits.

Area No. 10, Schoolcraft County, 1,500 permits.

It was earlier reported incorrectly that Area 8, comprising Delta County, the bottom of West Alger and the west edge of Schoolcraft had been undersubscribed, but its 8,100 permits were all asked for and there were 500 more applications which went unfilled.

The Conservation Commission reported that besides Areas 5, 9 and 10 in the U. P., there were not enough applications to exhaust the permits for Beaver Island, Bois Blanc Island and Area No. 18 in the hunt club country downstate. The commission will issue the 390 surplus permits for Beaver Island to the first licensed hunters without permits to apply for them on the island.

In the state there were 380,000 applications for antlerless deer permits, with 226,000 available. The state issued 218,200 permits, so 7,800 permits went begging, 1,500 of them in the U. P.

The level of Lake Michigan-Huron and Green Bay-Bay de Noc during October 1965 was 1.32 feet above the level of October 1964 and 1.70 feet below the average October level since 1860.

The October level was 1.32 feet above the lowest level on record in 1961 and 4.27 feet below the highest level on record in 1861.

The change from September to October was an increase of 0.20 foot. The average change for the same period is a decrease of 0.22 foot.

Kelley Speaks Here Thursday

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley will report to the people of the Upper Peninsula next week on developments in the effort to keep the railroads in the northern Lower Peninsula, and also on consumer protection plans.

Late last month, an Interstate Commerce Commission referee upheld Michigan's position opposing abandonment of several hundreds of miles of railroads in the northern Lower Peninsula. Kelley has called for the railroads, the government and private interests to join in assuring the economic future of that area. He says he will expand on these proposals on his trip North.

Kelley's itinerary brings him to Escanaba on Thursday. His route:

Wednesday, Nov. 10 - Ironwood, noon luncheon sponsored by Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis at St. James Hotel; 6 p.m., Houghton-Hancock, joint service club meeting, Douglas House, Houghton.

Thursday, Nov. 11 - Marquette, noon luncheon sponsored by Chamber of Commerce and Marquette County Prosecutor's Office at Northern Michigan University.

Kelley will address a ladies night meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club in Marco's briefly on consumer frauds after a 6:30 dinner Thursday, said Luther Barrett, program chairman.

Mrs. Winkler was born May 15, 1919 and married her husband on Sept. 16, 1939.

She is survived by her husband, three children, two brothers, Joseph Grenier of Escanaba and William Grenier of New York, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Sauve and Mrs. James Kennedy of Escanaba and Mrs. Glenn Arnold of Grand Forks, N. D.

Also surviving is her mother, Mrs. Agnes Grenier of Escanaba.

Funeral services for Mrs. Winkler will be held Monday at St. Peter and Paul church in Detroit.

Unoccupied House Burns At Watson

A small, vacant home near Watson owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyatt was destroyed by fire about 3:30 p. m. Friday.

Conservation Department firemen were called, but were too late to save the building. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Mrs. Emil Dulick, 201 N. 19th St., Escanaba, former owner of the home who had lived there for 22 years, said she and her husband occasionally visit the house and had gone there Friday afternoon. She said she had built a fire in the stove and then gone to the store at Watson.

She said a resident of the area noticed the fire and called the fire department. There was nobody in the home when the fire started.

Hunter Safety Action Praised

LANSING (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission won praise for its decision to back a mandatory Hunter-Safety Training Bill for youths under 17.

James Rouman, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said his group was "very happy" to see the bill as part of the Conservation Department's legislative program for 1966.

"I am confident that with your support enough steam will be generated for the bill's passage," Rouman told a meeting of the commission.

The bill, sponsored last year by Rep. Robert D. Mahoney, D-Detroit, would make it illegal for anyone under the age of 17 to hunt unless he had passed a four-hour safety training course from a person or organization designated by the department.

The course fee would be $1. Because of the monetary factor, the bill was sent to the House Ways and Means Committee after it reached the floor for debate. It never returned to the floor but it is still "live" for next year's session.

"We have never come out for the bill before," a department spokesman said, "because we have found that similar programs in other states haven't resulted in an appreciable cut-down in the number of hunting accidents. But we have nothing to lose by it."

He said the department has trained "about 72,000" high school age youths in a voluntary safety program since 1960.

In other action, the commission put off until next month a request from Commissioner Leonard W. Hooker, Houghton, that commercial operators bidding for state forest timber certify they are covered by Workmen's

He said those who are not covered have a "2.00 to $2.50 advantage per cord" over insured companies in bidding for state forest timber and that the state should not be "part and parcel of aiding and abetting law-breakers."

Use Rare Metal Tone Selectors "Sort Out" Sounds in New Hearing Aid

Tiny Tone Selectors using the rare precious metal TANTALUM have been developed for a remarkable new hearing aid which can be custom fitted to the individual hearing loss. They enable the aid to "sort out" sounds, emphasizing only those the person does not hear, leaving others at normal level. Aid can be re-adjusted to changing hearing loss.

Holy Name Club To Present Play

"Murder Takes the Veil," a mystery play in three acts by Margaret Ann Hubbard will be presented Nov. 20, 21, 22 in the Holy Name multi-purpose room at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from any Drama Club member.

The murder-mystery will be presented by the newly formed 150 member Holy Name Drama Club under the direction of Brother Christopher, F.S.C. The cast and crews are composed of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore members of the club.

The play's setting is a southern Louisiana girls' boarding school. The school, wishing to update itself, hires three male instructors and one of the girls discovers that one of the men has murdered her father.

The cast includes some veterans, but most are new to the Holy Name stage. Veterans include Pam Malinoski, who was seen in "The Mouse That Roared" and "Meet Me in St. Louis" last season; Chris Erickson and Kathy Ross who were in "The Mouse That Roared;" Glenna Paeske and Lani Norton in "Meet Me in St. Louis."

Newcomers include Sue Gannon, Ann Clark, Ann Minne, Doreen Bittner, Janet Bar-toszek, Karen Kell, Jani Barbeau, Joan Rinehart, Barb Frasher, Kathy Thompson, Bob Smith, Peter Petr, Mike Kobasic, Steve Huthibise, John Peltin, Jerry Cartwright, Dan DeGrand and Jim Crawford.

Eight feet were added to the front of the stage and it now covers the entire front of the multi-purpose room. A new front curtain has also been added. This unusual staging, the director hopes, will bring the audience closer to the action of the play.

Oldest Fossils Known To Man Found In Arctic

HANOVER, N.J. (UPI)—A Dartmouth College geological team discovered in the Canadian Arctic the oldest animal fossils known to man, it was disclosed this week.

The team said the fossils are at least 720 million years old and are expected to help clear up a mystery about how advanced forms of life evolved on Earth.

A Dartmouth College announcement said the party's findings "push back the known dates of animal life by at least 120 million years, but more importantly constitute a breakthrough in our knowledge of life during the earliest, very long periods of geologic life."

According to geologists, the discovery might be as meaningful to paleontology, the study of geological ages through fossils, as the discovery of the Neanderthal man in Europe in the middle of the 19th century was to anthropology.

WHO ARE THESE UNITARIANS AND UNIVERSALISTS?

Unitarians and Universalists believe the striving to live nobly and constructively more important than the accepting of religious creeds.

Unitarians and Universalists are convinced that religious truth cannot be contrary to truth from any other source.

Unitarians and Universalists offer a religious program for children and adults of all cultures, with reason as our guide, and service as our aim.

They further believe that "the great end in religious education is not to stamp our minds irresistibly on the young but to stir up their own."

C&NW Directors OK Rock Island Track Purchase

Directors of the Chicago & North Western Railway Thursday approved an agreement between the North Western and the Santa Fe Railway for sale of certain portions of the Rock Island railroad to the Santa Fe for $100 million should the Interstate Commerce Commission decide that division of the Rock Island between the two roads is in the public interest.

The agreement was approved by Santa Fe's directors last week.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Santa Fe would pay $100 million for all of the Rock Island lines south of Herington, Kansas, as well as the line from Herington to Salina, Kansas. The sale would not include Rock Island's main line from Kansas City to Tucuman, Santa Rosa, New Mexico. In addition, Santa Fe would acquire trackage rights over the Rock Island between Kansas City and St. Louis under a joint facility agreement.

Italian Firm To Manufacture P&H Overheads

Harnischfeger Corp. announced today that its "P&H" line of electric overhead traveling cranes and electric hoists will be manufactured in Europe by Gentili Brighi & C. S. p. A., Milano, Italy.

President Henry Harnischfeger said that the Gentili Brighi association would be of special interest to American firms which have European plants, since it will enable them to purchase cranes and hoists made to the same specifications they are accustomed to in their U. S. operations.

Harnischfeger also said that he expected the new arrangement would help exports of other P&H products made in domestic locations. "We have found," he said, "that the appearance of the P&H trademark on a product made abroad increases its acceptance and generally leads to inquiries about other products which we manufacture only in the U. S."

The cranes and hoists will be produced at a new plant opened recently in the vicinity of Milano by Gentili Brighi.

Rhodesia's Tragedy

The cruel wound to the human spirit that enslavement of other humans works on their masters is evident in the racial agonies of our own South.

It is even more clearly and starkly evident in the seeming determination of the white minority in Rhodesia to commit social suicide by trying to make themselves supreme over a nation of Negroes who outnumber them 18 to 1.

The white government of Rhodesia in southeastern Africa has proclaimed a state of emergency and restricted civil liberties as the nation faces a climax of decision in its efforts to solve its Negro problem. The view south from Rhodesia's capital of Salisbury to Hendrik Verwoerd's Republic of South Africa with its hardnose policy of white supremacy in Apartheid (apartness) may be comforting to the Rhodesian whites.

But Black Africa to the north has become a Negro continent and in a world of color there is mighty little world support for Rhodesia's insistence that a white minority of colonial settlers will rule a largely Negro nation on a basis of white supremacy.

Rhodesia was Britain's first self-governing colony in 1923. As it faced a growing demand of its Negro citizens that they be given a voice in its government proportionate with their numbers (one-man, one-vote, even in Africa!) it turned to the mother country, Britain, and, dismayed by Britain's proposed remedies, threatens an unconditional declaration of independence from the British Empire. Britain has replied that it will give Rhodesia its freedom only on condition that the nation's 4 million Negroes be guaranteed control of Rhodesia's government within a reasonable time.

The United Nations Assembly voted 107 to 2 to support the British position on Rhodesia. The dissenting states were Portugal, with its infamous example of colonialism in Angola, Africa, and white supremacy South Africa.

The whites in Rhodesia, who have given it its rather impressive economic progress into modernity, fear that Negro control of the country would mean the loss of their farms and their lives in a Mau Mau type blood-bath. They're resolved that it won't happen.

The world says they're wrong and can't win and shouldn't plunge on to suicide. Even the whites in other once colonial African states which are now Negro nations have not been able to convince them that the Negro takeover is not as ruinous to whites as first thought. Whites in Africa today have less voice in government, but a surprisingly large voice in the economies of the new nations. They are indispensible to progress in the backward nations; their only hope of making their economies work and of raising the living standard. Thousands of whites have returned to the new Negro nations.

Rhodesia keeps talking of a "racial partnership" but in a country that boasts of what the whites have done for their blacks, there is not a single African in a key civil service post, only a dozen African doctors and only three African lawyers and the Africans in the legislature have no power.

The blacks are only beginning to reject second class citizenship. Lacking education, taught servility from birth, segregated and under strong police control, their lot grows worse as the whites become more and more frightened.

Secret Of Success

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

In a number of incidents over the past year, it has been evident that a small group of Communists have been able to heavily influence much larger groups into which they have infiltrated.

This ability of the few to control larger numbers is the direct result of absolute party discipline, under which Communists must follow party orders and the party line precisely or face penalties or expulsion.

The party's organization commission places party functionaries throughout the party apparatus. A member has no control over where he goes. He may or may not want a certain post, but if the party directs it, he takes the post. It may mean breaking up his home, traveling hundreds or thousands of miles, but with the party discipline as it exists, it is the organization commission which has complete control over the party member in this respect.

To enforce this discipline, the Communist party of the United States operates its own "court system."

At the top is the national review (or control) commission. This national body is supplemented by state and local commissions.

The commission is the party's own secret police force. It has been compared to the MVD of the Soviet Union. It combines the functions of the police, the courts and a punishment agency.

The review commission accuses party members when they violate discipline in any way, it tries them and it metes out punishment to them.

The review commission has also been called the control commission. Having charge of the party's security, it is its job to ferret out FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation) undercover informants or anybody else in party ranks who may be a threat to party secrecy and the effectiveness of its underground operations.

An "erring" member would probably be first tried by his club or county disciplinary commission. These local "courts" have power to censure publicly or privately, to put a member on probation, to suspend him from party office or to expel him from the party altogether.

There are certain procedures for appeal to higher "courts." But higher party "courts" seldom overturn the decisions of a lower body.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

25 YEARS AGO . . .
Rev. James G. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church was elected president of the Escanaba Kiwanis club at yesterday's meeting to succeed Dr. H. K. Harrington.

Other officers named were Vice president, J. H. Jackson, secretary-treasurer, Clarence Zerkel; directors, Fritz Anderson, Frank Lindenthal, Leonard Moore, George Bergman, Al Johnson, William Peterson and Harry Needham.

Escanaba Lions club members and guests enjoyed the club's annual wild duck feed, provided by Harold Meiers, dinner chairman.

50 YEARS AGO . . .
The Tug Wawa, while towing a scow, ran on a bar inside of the entrance of the Escanaba harbor. A heavy wind was blowing and after attempting to release himself for two hours, Captain Shipman went about getting a lunch for his crew. The Captain said it was the first time in his career in the tug business that a boat handled by him has been held up.

Escanaban Jack Bennett Praised

$225 Million Ain't Hay

John (Jack) C. Bennett, director of store operations for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and former Escanaban and long-time summer cottager at Ford River, is the subject of a featured article in the current issue of Proof Magazine, a liquor trade journal formerly called the Michigan Licensed Beverage Record.

Born on the eve of July 4, 1908, this Irishman, like George M. Cohan's famous "Yankee Doodle Dandy," celebrates his country's birthday and his own on the same day. A native of Marquette, Bennett as a young man worked for his father's store from 1927 to 1935, and then joined the LCC. He was immediately transferred to the Upper Peninsula, where, in 1936, he was placed in charge of the U. P. Division, serving there until 1953.

When then Chairman George J. Burke, Jr., now MLCC business manager, created in 1953 the Stores Operations Division, a civil service examination was held to select its head, and Bennett scored No. 1 in the state. Burke appointed him Stores Operations Division director on July 1, 1953, and these two executives have been closely affiliated since.

Under the Stores Operations Division come the following departments: Distribution, stores, statistical, leases, purchasing, warehouse, traffic and maintenance. Also under Bennett's direction are Districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3, with warehouses in Detroit, Lansing and Escanaba, respectively. The Division also directs the 93 state liquor stores and sales to 25,000 licensees. All told, sales of alcoholic beverages in Michigan during 1964 totalled $225 million, which volume came under the supervision of the Stores Operations Division.

Cost of merchandise has increased in all phases of our economy. This is also true of the liquor business. At the present time the federal tax on liquor is $10.50 per gallon proof, which, coupled with the state sales tax, excise tax and specific tax, imposes a staggering burden on the liquor industry. The inevitable result is that it costs more to buy the same amount of merchandise than it did several years ago.

In addition, Michigan's constantly increasing population and the adding of new liquor outlets have been responsible for a steady increase in the business handled by the MLCC.

All liquor purchases are based strictly on sales and inventories for the previous 30-day period.

The MLCC holds two listing and de-listing meetings each year. All new items offered to the MLCC must first go on a special order list. Rigid sales standards are set by the Commission and listed items must conform to these standards of merchandise movements.

Purchase meetings are held in Lansing every other Tuesday during the year and the LCC headquarters at 506 S. Hosmer St. swarms with liquor vendors on each "Purchase Day." All purchases are submitted by the director to the entire commission and business manager for their consideration and it is Bennett's responsibility to keep accurate records of the items purchased. Consumer buying habits differ. Liquor is no exception. What sells briskly in Detroit may be a slow mover in Escanaba or Lansing, so Bennett is charged with seeing that the same brands must be kept available to customers everywhere in the state.

In addition to supplying 93 state stores, the Stores Operations Division services thousands of SDD's, bars, clubs and hotels in Michigan. In recent years, these outlets have accounted for more than 75 per cent of the state's liquor revenues.

A working force of more than 600 operates the three large warehouses and strict supervision is necessary to insure that deliveries from distillers are made to the three state warehouses and then to see that constant distribution is made from the warehouses to the dealers throughout the state.

The largest operation is in the Detroit area, where nearly 70 per cent of the state's liquor business is transacted. To handle this phase more efficiently, the Legislature in 1955 provided a warehouse in Lincoln Park. This operation includes three former state liquor stores which were combined into one, now known as Store No. 110. More than 2,500 outlets in the Detroit area are serviced from State Store No. 110, in the Lincoln Park Warehouse.

The LCC is now seeking another warehouse to house the main office, now at 506 S. Hosmer St., Lansing, as well as space for receiving, storing and shipping liquor to all the stores in the Lansing District, which takes in 61 counties and 47 state stores. Today, the caseload from the Lansing headquarters exceeds 1.5 million.

Officials from the 16 other monopoly states involved in the sales and distribution of liquor have praised the splendid record and achievements of the Stores Operations Division and Bennett is quick to pay tribute to the 600 employees of the Division, who he says have made this success possible.

Said Bennett: "Conducting a business grossing $225 million per year, of which a large percentage goes into the State treasury, is a grave responsibility. Few private businesses gross this volume. I think it speaks well for the Michigan operation that the state rates so high among the 17 monopoly states."

Finding The Way

How Do YOU Give?

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

At the Chataqua Institute in New York there used to be a delightful man who presided at the many religious services over a period of years. The thousands of persons who attended those various events may have forgotten the sermons but they will always remember Dr. Randall's introduction of the offering. He could have said: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." But, said this happy man, the most meaning for this word "cheerful" is "hilarious." Therefore, "The Lord loves a hilarious giver."

I thought of that the other day when I saw a maple quite literally exulting in beauty. It was on a street that men call "distressed." In that place there were no surroundings to make children sing or their parents find the deeper meanings of joy. Yet this tree was magnificent, the one hilarious flame of gold to proclaim the joy that might be possible for that neighborhood.

This is a fact we shall have to reckon with constantly. We need to cure the blight of our cities and there is also the blight of our own spirits. Joy is too often missed and good humor is hard to come by. Hilarity is degraded into Boleloousness and we are liable to think that to be spirited requires spirits!

True hilarity is joy let loose, beauty seen and understood, the deeper delight that can be seen and the quality of handling the ordinariness of life with exuberance.

And then he writes of a little boy's first trip to the zoo (which is perhaps the only justification for the zoo) when he is stopped cold by the crest-decked cockatoo or doubled over with laughter by his first giraffe. What a world in which all of a sudden there is a giraffe.

It's been too long for some of us since we've been surprised by joy or able to understand that day which is filled with rejoicing. As a result we are liable to share our little bit with condescension and to give our pennies with quick fingers. Yet all around there is the need for joy and the causes for hilarity. Those who have lived hilariously have made it possible for others to sing:

"I thank you God most for this amazing day, for the leaping greenly spirits of trees and a blue true dream of sky, and for everything which is natural, which is infinite, which is you."

ON THRIFT

For many years it has been my conviction that Escanaba is a thrifty community and that Escanaba people are thrifty people. The recent overwhelming "Yes" vote supporting the investment of the funds received from the sale of the gas utility is good evidence that we can continue to consider ourselves a thrifty community.

Thrifty, to some, may be one of the old fashioned, forgotten virtues. It is, indeed, very refreshing to know that this good old fashioned virtue has not been forgotten here in Escanaba, even in these modern times.

Orchids for the Escanaba City Council.

It is also my opinion that our City Council should be complimented for the good decisions they have made on the gas utility funds. Many communities would be delighted, I am sure, to have a million dollar investment earning $40,000 a year interest in their treasury. Incidentally, $1,000,000 invested at 4% compounded annually will increase to slightly over $1,216,000 in five years. This is a good nest egg for any large project that may be in the Council's future planning.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 13 who has a 7-year-old sister. Laura is spoiled rotten. I have orders not to lay a hand on her because I am older and bigger. But she can kick and pinch me whenever she feels like it and she feels like it pretty often.

Laura has learned a stunt to get me into trouble. When she is mad at me she begins to bawl—real loud, so the people in the next block can hear. My dad runs in yelling, "What did you do to Laura?" When I say "Nothing," Laura says, "That's a lie. She hit me." Then I get punished.

I have to do eight household jobs and all Laura has to do is drag a dust rag over a couple of tables. When I complain Mom says, "She's just a little girl," but when I don't want to take her to the movies on Saturday afternoon I go with my friends. Mom says, "Take her. She's a young lady."

It will be four years and eight months until I can get out of this house and go to college, if I last that long. Tell me what to do until then. — IN MISERY

Dear Mr. Little sister and brother: Can be a joy or a pain in the neck, depending on how their parents raise them.

Big kids should not hit little ones and little kids should not hit big ones, either. Older children should do more work but they should also have extra privileges.

It is wrong to saddle a 13-year-old girl with a 7-year-old sister on a Saturday afternoon. It is also wrong to reward a child for tattling on a brother or sister. The best system is for parents to insist that their kids work out their problems independently and refuse to act as referees.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the mother who is heartbroken because her son is marrying a woman seven years older than he is.

My son was 16 when he fell for a woman who was 26. They went together three years and I cried myself to sleep every night. He kept telling me Jeanette was a wonderful person and he loved her three children as if they were his own. Well, I refused to even meet her.

My son married Jeanette when he was 19—she was 29. Today, five years later, they are the happiest people I know. She is better to me than my own daughters. Jeanette telephones me every few days and says, "Mother, is there anything you need? What can I do for you?" My own daughters call only when they want me to sit with their kids. So please tell that mother to cheer up. Her son's older wife may be the best one in the bunch. Mine is. — HAD TO BE SHOWN

Dear Shown: Your son and Jeanette have beaten the odds and my hat is off to them.

Dear Ann Landers: Our youngster is a victim of hemophilia. Because of his condition he is often covered with bruises and he appears to have black eyes. Strangers come over and say, "What happened to the child? Was he in an accident?" We don't feel like discussing his condition with strangers. Furthermore we don't want the boy to feel he's abnormal. Yet we must say something. Advise us please. — W. P.

Dear W. P.: It's always difficult to cope with thoughtless people but your first concern should be for the boy. Tell the inquirers the boy has a blood condition. Chop it there. Explain to the child that when people ask questions they are showing interest in him and they don't really mean to be rude.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Record Hunt Army Foreseen

LANSING (UPI) — The State Conservation Department said today it expected a record 575,000 hunters to sweep the state during the deer hunting season which begins later this month.

The season opens Nov. 13 in the Upper Peninsula and Nov. 20 in the Lower Peninsula.

Conservation officials also predicted a near record kill of 140,000 deer, about 75,000 bucks and nearly 64,000 antlerless deer.

An estimated 22,000 deer are expected to be killed in the Upper Peninsula and 54,000 in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

A kill of about 8,000 or more deer was predicted for the southern third of the state where a whitetail deer population explosion is taking place.

Any deer hunting has been extended this year to cover all of Menominee County above the Straits.

Hunters are being asked by the Conservation Department to stop at several deer checking stations to report their kills.

The stations will be located at the Straits of Mackinac; south of Bay City on I 75; near Alma on U.S. 27; White Cloud on M 37 and in Howard City on U.S. 131.

Deer will be examined to give conservation officials an idea of the deer herd's general physical condition and possible trouble spots in the state's whitetail range.

Phyllis M. Grondine Bride Of Larry King

SPALDING — Phyllis Marie Grondine of Spalding became the bride of Larry Joseph King, Spalding in a 11 a. m. ceremony today in St. Francis Xavier Church in Spalding. The Rev. Henry Mercer, cousin of the bridegroom officiated at the double ring ceremony. Performing altar duties were Keith and Kenneth Kirchner, cousins of the bridegroom. The St. Francis Xavier choir provided the traditional wedding music and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" was sung as the bride placed her sodality cape at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Chantilly Lace

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Grondine Jr., Spalding, wore a white floor length gown of chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and detailed with pearl and sequin trim, as she approached the altar adorned with vases of white mums. The sabrina neckline featured an organza bow which flowed down and over the chapel sweep train. A double crown of peau leaves with tiny seed pearls held her waist length veil of pure silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of red garnet roses with ivy foliage.

Burgundy Velvet

A floor length gown of velvet and brocade was worn by the maid of honor, Ann Wheeler. The gown was fashioned with a burgundy velvet skirt, white empire bodice and long tapered sleeves. Her shoulder length bouffant veil was held by a single rose of burgundy velvet and she carried a cascade of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Gowns of shell pink brocade and burgundy velvet identical to that of the maid of honor were worn by bridesmaids, Bonnie King, Mrs. Richard Barker and Mary Bastien. They carried cascades of peppermint carnations.

Wearing a miniature gown of crepe chiffon with a bell shaped skirt was Bonnie Benson, cousin of the bridegroom, as flower girl. Her headpiece was a single rose of white velvet and she carried a basket of peppermint carnations. John Grondine, brother of bride, was ringbearer.

Walter Welch Jr. was best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence King of Powers and James Grondine, Daniel Wells and Richard King were groomsmen. Performing ushering duties were Jerry Grondine and Michael King.

Mother's Attire

For attending the wedding and the reception Mrs. Grondine wore a three piece knit suit of aqua with black accessories. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Lundquist chose a royal blue suit also with black accessories. Mrs. King wore a plum colored sheath dress with black accessories and a red and white grandmother. Mrs. Wilfred Grondine Sr. was attired in a black and gold brocade sheath with black accessories. Both mothers and grandmothers were presented with corsages of pink roses.

Red And White

A breakfast for the wedding party and close relatives was held at the Legion Club House in Powers and a red and white decor will be carried out at the reception to be held this afternoon for 400 guests, also at the Legion Club House. A dance will follow with music by the Wells family orchestra. Assisting at the reception will be Bertha Gagne and Sherry DuBois at the silver service, Joan Casey cutting the wedding cake and Mrs. Jule Hanson in charge of the guest book.

Guests are attending from Mt. Pleasant, Green Bay, Chicago, Iron Mountain, DePere, Detroit, Milwaukee, Menominee, Marquette, Munising, Bark River, Carney and Hermansville.

For going away the bride will be wearing a two piece ensemble of red velvet with a corsage of red sweetheart roses. She is a graduate of Spalding High School and is now attending Northern Michigan University. Mr. King attended Powers-Spalding High School and is employed at the Clare Bedding and Mfg. Co. of Hermansville.

Community Day Program Well Attended Here

Over 100 church women of the Escanaba area attended World Community Day services at the Bethany Lutheran Church on Friday.

The program was presented by members of Lyle Plowman's sociology class at Bay de Noc College. Karen Olson of Ensign spoke on population problems in the Latin American countries; Linda Good of Gladstone told of the various classes and status in these countries; Paul Turnquist spoke of the education problems and costs of educating the people; Kenton Anderson gave a summation and spoke of the Alliance for Progress into effect by the late President Kennedy but which was started during the Eisenhower administration. Tony Romani, a student at the college from Cuba, sang "Cumbaya," "Michael, Row the Boat," and "Amen."

The offering received on this day will make possible an expanded program of training the women in Chile in responsible parenthood and in family and community betterment. Men will be trained for reforestation and road building.

Assisting in the service were Messames, Donald Ness, R. Pariso, Ernest Erickson, Ed Nicholson, Charles Kaiser, Leonard Erickson, William Van Effen, and Clarence Sundquist.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Walter Bjorkquist, election of officers was held. Officers for the coming year will be president, Mrs. Walter Bjorkquist; 1st vice president, Mrs. Donald Ness; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Sylvia Glaeser; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Buckland and treasurer, Mrs. Barnett Mills.

Population Control

Karen Olson said "Control of population explosion must be a slow process. Two things are certain, however: the more people earn and learn, the fewer children they want, and a truly determined, highly organized nation can check its explosion relatively fast."

"A check on the population increase will come more slowly in other lands, but it can be achieved. It must be achieved if the human race is not to outstrip its resources and find itself with living standards comparable to those of the Dark Ages."

Linda Good said, "Social class structure will not change fast in the Latin American countries, but they have already started the breaking down of the aristocratic class and the widening between the classes is beginning to close by the formation of a growing middle class."

"The old aristocracy has been broken down by need of industry for factory and transport workers, spread of popular education and liberalizing influences from abroad."

Student Reds
Paul Turnquist said, "The 120 universities in Latin America fail to keep pace with today's world standards. It just might have something to do with the student control. Because of the Communist student organization control over university affairs throughout Latin America, one of the ambassadors from the Soviet Union was asked whether Soviet students were permitted to run the universities in the USSR? The ambassador snapped "Absolutely not." This is interesting, isn't it?"

Kenton Anderson said: "The Alliance for Progress is barely four years old and perhaps it is still too early to tell who is right and who is wrong. But critics and supporters agree that the remainder of this decade could be of crucial importance to all of Latin America."

"Whether, through the Alliance or through other programs, the majority of the people in Latin America will have to be improved. Otherwise in their misery and hopelessness these people may turn to alternatives which could pose a threat to the democratic institutions not only of Latin America, but the entire hemisphere."

MANISTIQUE Inland Achieves New Five-Year Safe Record

Employees of Inland Lime and Stone Co., at midnight Wednesday completed the almost unbelievable feat of working five years without a lost-time work injury, John W. Moffat, vice president and general manager reports.

This record — 1826 consecutive calendar days during which no employee received an injury on the job resulting in loss of time from work — is 180 days better than Inland's previous record, which ran from September, 1937 to August, 1940.

Only eight of the 41 industries in the U.S. are rated more hazardous than quarrying, from the standpoint of frequency of accidents, and only three are rated more hazardous from the standpoint of the severity of accidents, according to the National Safety Council.

Employment at Port Inland is over 350. The 5-year period of safety includes 3,100,000 manhours.

In complimenting the employees Moffat noted the record is one of the finest ever attained by a large quarry operation in the United States and that it is a tribute to the highest degree of safety interest on the part of all employees.

"Management can provide the necessary safe working conditions, supervision and safety training but the employees themselves can do the most to prevent injuries to themselves and others by working safely.

"A man can see the greatest safety device ever created by simply looking into a mirror. While quality and production are of great importance to all of us we are proudest of the safety performance of our people," he said.

Big Rebuilding Job For Hill This Year

HERMANVILLE — Coach Don Hill is rebuilding his Hermansville Redskin basketball team around four lettermen, including two regulars, from the squad that fashioned a 19-4 record last season.

Hermansville was hard hit by graduation losses that have cost the services of All-Upper Peninsula guard Ron Povolo, Dennis McClure, Marty Smith, Roger LaCoursier and Dan Vincent. They combined last year to contribute 1,357 points for the Redskins, including 858 by Povolo.

Esky Fan Club Meets Monday

The Eskymo Fan Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the commons area of the high school to make plans for the annual senior football trip to Madison.

Seniors and members of the coaching staff will attend the University of Wisconsin-Illinois game Nov. 13.

Films from this season's Eskymo games will be shown at the Monday night meeting. All interested persons are welcome to attend and are asked to use the west entrance to the school.

"This year's team will be built around four returning lettermen among 20 candidates for the squad," Hill stated. The letter winners are seniors Harry Gordon and Don Whitens, junior Doug LaCoursier and sophomore Randy Fochesato. Gordon and LaCoursier were regulars last year and scored 520 points between them.

Other candidates for the team include juniors Harlan Rochon, Len Wellings and John Opolka, sophomores Rick Antonetti, Dennis Grenier, Mike Raiche, John Paul St. Juliana, Ron Tomasi, Bob Wellings, John Whitens and Russ Peters and freshmen Mark Maga, Larry Raiche, Tom Menard, Rick Arduin and Dennis Gustafson.

"We'll be very short and inexperienced this season," Hill pointed out. "It will be tough to replace players like Povolo, LaCoursier, Vincent, Smith and McClure, but the new boys should give a good account of themselves by the end of the year."

Hill has a record of 194 victories against 54 defeats in his 12 previous seasons as varsity coach at Hermansville. His Redskins have won five district crowns, two state Class E titles, seven conference cham-ionships and last year added the Big Seven Holiday tournament title.

Texas Golfer Paces Field

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Sandra McClinton, buried in 18th place in the list of money winners of the ladies professional golf tour, today found herself on top of the field in the $10,000 Tall City Open.

A field of 30 professionals and four amateurs teed off today in the second round of the 54-hole tourney.

Miss McClinton, a Texas native from Mount Pleasant, toured the Hogan Park municipal golf course in three-under-par Friday, turning in a 36-32-68.

That was good enough for a one-stroke lead over two veterans, Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., and Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth.

Miss Creed, trying to overtake Kathy Whitworth as the tour's leading money winner, shot a 34-35-69 while Miss Haynie, fifth-leading money winner, put together nines of 36-33 for an identical score.

Miss Whitworth, carrying a $5,000 lead in money winnings over Miss Creed into the Tall City Open, was logged in a five-way tie for third place with Beth Stone, Peggy Wilson, Judy Torluemeke and Marlene Hage. All five turned in 70s.

Another quintet of girls was locked at 71 — Sandra Palmer, Sybil Griffin, Shirley Englehorn, Mary Mills and Margie Masters.

The Jets will be trying to snap a 12-game losing streak on the road at Kansas City. Matt Snell is New York's big gun while the quarterback is a question for the Jets. Coach Webb Ewbank has named Mike Taliaferro over Joe Namath this week on the basis of his performance in the team's first victory last Sunday at Shea Stadium.

Kansas City is tied for second in the West and must win to stay in the thick of things. Curtis McClinton and Mack Hill are the big running threats.

Houston has become Buffalo's only challenger in the east on the strength of an aerial attack that has netted an average of 206 yards per contest.

Tom Flores and Dick Wood share the signal-calling duties for Oakland while Art Powell does the pass catching and Clem Daniels the leg work.

By WILLIAM VERIGAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Willis might be the last of the great pool hustlers, and he's proud of the title.

"I still like to get out once in a while and hustle some guy for a couple of bucks when some of my friends call me," says Willis, who was called the Cincinnati Kid in his younger days.

"It's not like it used to be, and I don't mind admitting I miss the old days," Willis says. "My eyesight's not so good any more, but I can still hold my own because I still have that rhythm and heart the most important thing to a pool player."

"Now they're trying to make pool halls plush with carpets and all, and they even want women in them," says Willis, who has played billiards for 43 of his 57 years. "If women could ever get the hang of the game, they would help attract even more men because where there are girls there are boys. Of course, about the best run most of the women I've seen can get is about three balls."

After chucking to himself at the futility of the weaker sex, he continued, "Cowboy Jimmy Moore, who won the national pocket billiards championship, says I'm the only man who ever beat him in a game for money. And that's the only kind of game that counts—one for money."

Beat Moore
Willis remembers beating a legendary Willie Mosconi as a lad in high school, but he admits that those victories don't count because they were merely in exhibitions and not for cash on the line.

Willis, who lives in Canton, Ohio, started hustling the unwary poolroom sharks during the depression because he needed the money to support his wife, and his adventures have carried him into billiard parlors all over the country.

He got the name "Cincinnati Kid" when he was in a bar making a pitch to an unattractive female friend of the bar's owner. When she didn't respond, the manager whispered in her ear, "You know who that is? That's the Cincinnati Kid, who blows $5,000 bucks on a roll of the dice without bat-

John Unitas Legend Next Bear Target

By United Press International
The Chicago Bears exposed a National Football League myth last week and go after a legend Sunday.

Bart Starr's mythical passing wizardry was shattered by the Bears, who swiped three of his aerials last Sunday to knock Green Bay from the unbeaten ranks, 31-10. The Green Bay quarterback had only four passes intercepted last season and only two this campaign prior to the Chicago game.

If the Bears expect to beat Baltimore Sunday, they must stop the legendary exploits of Johnny Unitas, who had his biggest day of the season last week. Johnny U. tossed four touchdowns passes to spark Baltimore to its fifth consecutive victory, a 34-28 comeback triumph over San Francisco.

The Bears, however, have put together a four game winning streak after dropping their first three games. Their triumph over Green Bay enabled them to move into a three-way tie for second and the Colts to deadlock the Packers for first place in the Western Division.

Around The Circuit
In other games, Cleveland hosts Philadelphia, Detroit visits Green Bay, Los Angeles travels to Minnesota, St. Louis entertains Pittsburgh, Washington journeys to New York and Dallas entertains San Francisco.

Both Philadelphia and Cleveland will be attempting to rebound from a loss. Jimmy Brown was held to 39 yards rushing in a losing effort to Minnesota (27-17). Norm Snead of the Eagles, out three games with a knee injury, entered the contest late in the first half and fired 11 completions.

The Lions find themselves an 11-point underdog although coming off a victory over Los Angeles (31-7). George Izo, in his first starting assignment for the Lions, tossed a 61-yard TD pass to Terry Barr last week against the Rams.

Vikings, Cards Favored
Minnesota has won four of its last five games and is a 12-point pick to beat the Rams, while the St. Louis Cardinals are rated 10-point favorites to dump the Steelers and snap a two-game losing streak. Pittsburgh has won its last two, including a big victory over Dallas last week when Bill Nelsen tossed three touchdowns passes.

The Giants and Redskins are rated even although New York has lost to Washington only once in seven years. The Redskins and Giants have each won two straight and New York is only one game out of first place.

San Francisco may be without the services of the league's leading passer, John Brodie, who was shaken up last week but still managed to toss three TD passes. If Brodie doesn't start, George Mira will get the nod.

Cash Comeback Is Recognized
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Pitcher Vern Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates and first baseman Norm Cash of the Detroit Tigers were named Friday 1965 comeback players by the Sporting News.

Law, 35, won 17 and lost nine with a 2.16 earned-run average in 1965. In 1964, his won-lost records were 12-13 with a 3.61 ERA.

Law won the Cy Young Award as the major league's top pitcher in 1960 when he won 20 games and lost nine.

Cash bounced back with 30 homers, second best in the league, while hitting .266 and batting in 82 runs.

They were selected in a vote of the players. Ernie Banks of Chicago was a distant second to Law in the National League, while Jim "Mudcat" Grant of Minnesota was Cash's closest rival in the American League.

The paper also announced that Joe Morgan, Houston second baseman, and outfielder Curt Blefary of the Baltimore Orioles were chosen rookies of the year in the paper's player poll.

Morgan hit .271 and had 14 home runs and 40 runs batted in. His nearest pursuer in the poll, Jim Lefebvre of Los Angeles hit 21 points lower but had 69 RBIs.

The top rookie pitchers in the poll were Frank Linzy of San Francisco and Marcelino Lopez of the Los Angeles Angels.

Appling, selected in 1964, is a former Chicago White Sox shortstop who had a 310 career batting average in the majors. Hartnett, former Chicago Cub catcher, hit .297 in the majors.

Cincinnati Kid Is Last Of Great Pool Hustlers

By WILLIAM VERIGAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Willis might be the last of the great pool hustlers, and he's proud of the title.

"I still like to get out once in a while and hustle some guy for a couple of bucks when some of my friends call me," says Willis, who was called the Cincinnati Kid in his younger days.

"It's not like it used to be, and I don't mind admitting I miss the old days," Willis says. "My eyesight's not so good any more, but I can still hold my own because I still have that rhythm and heart the most important thing to a pool player."

"Now they're trying to make pool halls plush with carpets and all, and they even want women in them," says Willis, who has played billiards for 43 of his 57 years. "If women could ever get the hang of the game, they would help attract even more men because where there are girls there are boys. Of course, about the best run most of the women I've seen can get is about three balls."

After chucking to himself at the futility of the weaker sex, he continued, "Cowboy Jimmy Moore, who won the national pocket billiards championship, says I'm the only man who ever beat him in a game for money. And that's the only kind of game that counts—one for money."

Beat Moore
Willis remembers beating a legendary Willie Mosconi as a lad in high school, but he admits that those victories don't count because they were merely in exhibitions and not for cash on the line.

Willis, who lives in Canton, Ohio, started hustling the unwary poolroom sharks during the depression because he needed the money to support his wife, and his adventures have carried him into billiard parlors all over the country.

He got the name "Cincinnati Kid" when he was in a bar making a pitch to an unattractive female friend of the bar's owner. When she didn't respond, the manager whispered in her ear, "You know who that is? That's the Cincinnati Kid, who blows $5,000 bucks on a roll of the dice without batting an eye." The girl became friendly and the nickname stuck.

Sorta Inactive
"I've been sorta inactive lately, though," says Willis, "and some new guy now has taken over the name."

Willis says the best amateur pool player he has ever seen is Walter Alston, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, but he rates Philadelphia pitcher Bo Belinsky a close second. Of course, neither is much of a match for Willis.

"Jack White, who was promoting the Florida State Open at Hollywood a few years back, once asked all the players in the tournament to list their titles and who they beat. But I wasn't keen on the idea so I just wrote, 'Undisputed Champion of Fourth Street, Canton, Ohio,'" says Willis.

"So White says, 'Aw, come on, you gotta put down something.' I just reached down and took out the player's paper with the most impressive list and wrote at the bottom, 'but he was beaten by Willis.' That's my claim to fame and I don't need no titles."

Bill Earle, right, accepts the Great Lakes Conference football trophy from Art Allen of Newberry, league commissioner, at the annual fall meeting held in Munising this week. Earle's Munising Mustangs captured the Great Lakes crown with a 4-1 record and had a 7-2 overall mark for the 1965 season. (Photo by Dick Hallifax)

Pollution War Already Fought By State Here

By JEAN WORTH

Joe Bal of Gladstone knows as much about pollution of the Upper Peninsula's waters as any other person. He has been working for years, as an engineer of the Michigan Water Resources Commission, to make them purer.

Long before the current national furor over pollution started Bal was preaching the gospel of water purity. He's preaching it today, but he hasn't jumped on the bandwagon of alarmists who say there won't be anything fit to drink in a few years the way we're headed.

Don't push the panic button, suggests Bal, the Upper Peninsula is in pretty good condition and getting better. Unless there is an unforeseen eruption of population in the U.P. control measures now at work or coming up will take care of the major problems.

Upper Peninsula's, said Bal, are lucky. Population is what makes pollution. We have so little of it that our pollution problems are not great, in the way that they're great on Lake Erie and lower Lake Michigan and in the sewage filled Chicago River and many other waterways.

Two Sources

There are two big sources of pollution — sewage from cities and industrial wastes. The U.P. has both these problems, but has made great strides in the solution of both, said Bal.

Coming up, however, is an increased emphasis on clean waters. "Governor Romney wants the pollution control effort of the state doubled," said Bal. "We have a new pollution control law to work with. It says:

"The discharge of any raw sewage of human origin, directly or indirectly into any of the waters of the state shall be considered prima facie evidence of violation of this act, unless the discharge shall have been permitted by an order of the commission.

"Any city, village or township which permits, allows or suffers the discharge of such raw sewage into any of the waters of the state shall be subject to the remedies provided in this act."

Six Need Plants

The law charges local government with responsibility for cleanup of pollution.

There are only 6 towns in the U. P. without sewage treatment needed to meet public health standards, said Bal. Fifteen years ago only 8 U. P. towns had it; today 25 have it.

Gwinn, Norway, Crystal Falls, Wakefield, Laurium, Lake Linden-Hubbell do not have sewage treatment plants yet.

Norway, discharging its sewage into White Creek and the Menominee River, is under commission order to build a plant. Laurium, discharging into Hamlet Creek, the Trap Rock River and Torch Lake, has agreed to build a plant. Wakefield, discharging into Jackson Creek and the Black River, has the engineering work done and is working on financing.

Crystal Falls, discharging into the Paint River, and Lake Linden-Hubbell, are expected to act within the next two years.

New Law Applies

There are local problems, like a two block section of Rapid River where residents have hooked onto a storm sewer and are using it as a sanitary sewer. Previously, to correct such problems it was necessary for water or health officials to prove a public health injury, but under the new law they need only establish that raw sewage is being discharged into public waters and the commission can order correction.

Every city in the U. P. will have the problem controlled in a few years, said Bal.

"One of the pollution problems that is growing more acute in Michigan," said Bal "is the fertilization of lakes and streams by effluent (discharge) from modern sewage treatment plants.

"In populous areas we have got to think of further treatment of sewage to remove chemicals (phosphates and nitrates) which are fertilizers and which accelerate algae and other water growths.

Algae Problems

"Up to a point, these fertilizers are great for fish, but in excess they create a nuisance of aquatic growths. When they die off they create a mess and remove the oxygen.

"This problem is where the population is and it has not been growing much in the U. P. Michigan has one of the best sewage treatment programs in the nation because of activities of the Michigan Public Health Department in certification of sewage treatment plant operators, which is now mandatory.

"Society uses more and more water and the only way to get along is to make it clean and put it back in the surface water or ground water supply and reuse it eventually.

"Detergents have been no problem in the U. P., but people with wells are beginning to get foam, even though there's no harmful bacteria. Detergents are the cause. We know it came out of a sewer somewhere. There have been only scattered instances of this in the U. P."

Red Guerrillas Capture 4 U.S. Sergeants On Bus

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist guerrillas captured four U.S. Air Force sergeants returning from a sea resort last Sunday, a U.S. military spokesman revealed today.

He said a search and rescue operation was underway to track down the kidnappers.

The sergeants left by helicopter Saturday for the sea resort of Vung Tau, 30 miles southeast of Saigon.

The men were scheduled to return to Saigon by helicopter Sunday but for some reason they changed their plans.

Instead, they apparently hired a bus to bring them back to Saigon via Highway 15.

All U.S. servicemen are warned upon arrival in Viet Nam against traveling on roads through the countryside at night.

The bus never got to Saigon. Officials refused to reveal the names of the four airmen, pending a report on the search operations.

Eaton Teaming With Jap Firm

CLEVELAND — A technical assistance agreement between Eaton Manufacturing Co. and Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Ltd., covering Eaton's permanent mold casting process has received the approval of the Japanese government, announces E. M. deWindt, group vice president, Eaton Yale & Towne International.

It marks Eaton's initial entry into the Japanese market through one of that country's major industrial enterprises.

Under the licensing agreement arranged with Mizushima Motor Vehicle Works, a division of Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Ltd., the Japanese firm is granted the right, on a royalty basis, to use Eaton designed permanent mold casting machines to produce castings for automotive parts and other products.

As part of the agreement, Eaton will provide the Japanese firm with the technical information required to produce the castings.

"We hope this is the beginning of a series of important licensing agreements in Japan, where the motor vehicle industry has been growing rapidly in recent years," deWindt said.

Eaton currently has more than 40 licensing and technical assistance agreements for the manufacture of various automotive parts and components throughout the free world. Eaton's permanent mold casting process has been licensed to producers in several other countries besides Japan.

Shareholders of Eaton Manufacturing Co. at a special meeting on Dec. 14, will be asked to vote on a proposal to change the name of the firm to Eaton Yale Towne Inc.

New Highway Concerns City

The Gladstone City Commission will consider resolutions submitted by the State Highway Department regarding the proposed relocation of U. S. 2 and 41 and the northern entry to the city at its regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the City Hall.

The commission had previously rejected one proposal for a northern entry to the city. Highway Department plans call for construction of a four-lane, limited access highway from Gladstone to Rapid River and department engineers wish to avoid entry and exit ramps to N. 9th St. which would require drivers to cross oncoming traffic.

The Commission, however, does not wish to permit use of the sizable portions of land which cloverleaf-type construction would require. The Commission will also discuss a comprehensive planning proposal for the city and is expected to authorize a factory service man to inspect and repair a turbine at the city power plant.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Grandma baked pies today and we had a good laugh together over the story she used to tell me of a little girl of a lady who baked pies and marked them to tell them apart. Half she marked T M for 'Tis Mince, the others T M for 'Tisn't Mince.

It's such fun having Grandma live in our house. Her stories of the old days, her understanding humor, and her joy in living spark our lives. She needs no label. That she's a Christian glows in everything she does. No matter what the circumstances, she meets people and situations with love and goodness. Full credit is hers, that none of the problems that we feared when she came to live with us have developed.

Yes, I'd say Grandma has rubbed off on all of us. We all go to church now and we're much happier because of it. We've learned from Grandma that happiness comes from doing good and loving God.

Why don't you go to Church and take your family with you?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
